Different Love

Chapter 1 by Emster

I sat there. Wondering what I had done to my life. Nothing. No... not nothing. I had done everything. I had ruined it. Forever. I wanted to spend the rest of my life with him. I should have never had told him that. That was when I lost him.

I was in a stressful time. I just didn't see what the point was anymore. I was going to go to college, get a degree in a job that I'll probably hate, slave away under the control of my boss for the rest of my life! You get my point? Then I met him. And he changed everything.

Chapter 2 by Fanwizard

Love is unexpected. I had never believed in love. I didn't believe in true love. I didn't believe in love at first sight. I didn't believe in soulmates. I didn't believe in everlasting love. I didn't believe in love.

And it turns out, neither did he. He didn't believe in true love. Neither did I. And that one little thing drew us closer together.

I had never fallen so hard for someone. It scared me how much I cared about him. No, how much I loved him.

I had never been so happy to be in love. I had never been so afraid of losing him. I had never been so loved.

I had never been so scared to lose him.

He taught me how to open my eyes and see the beauty that was always there but I didn't look hard enough. Take time and smell the flowers. He taught me the beauty of freedom, the power of choice.

I stared at the spiderwebs in the corners, remembering my old radio turned on, laughing as we danced in the kitchen for a date, the first time I realized that I was in love with him.
